THE MEMPHIS APPEAL

MEMPHIS:

SUNDAY, : : : : : : : : : : MAY 12, 1867

BREVITIES.

—Two women have been elected as parish overseers in England.

—Fifteen butcher shops in Indianapolis have been closed up on account of the scarcity of beef.

—There are three thousand pauper gentlemen in New York who live by begging and borrowing.

—In consequence of the great strike of the workmen of Chicago, the work of building to the amount of $3,000,000, which was contracted for, is abandoned.

—The students of Harvard and Yale colleges have abandoned the intention to participate in the proposed international regatta between the English and American universities at Paris.

—A singular procession of babies—in the arms of their nurses—was "passed in review" at Savannah, Ga., on May day.

—The Evansville (Indiana) Sentinel, edited by an ex-federal officer, writes a leader in favor of Gen. R. E. Lee for president in 1868.

—A Wurtemburg paper protests against a practice which it asserts is now very common in that part of Germany—sending pardoned criminals or paupers to America.

—Embonpoint is the rage in Paris just now, and art is resorted to where nature has denied this new found beauty.

—A Frenchman in New Orleans has given ten thousand dollars toward founding an orphans' home without respect to color.

—The New Orleans Crescent denies that ex-Mayor Monroe and family have gone to Canada.

—John B. Gough made his first temperance speech in Rochester on the 4th of July, 1843. Since that time he has delivered 4800 temperance speeches and lectures.

—An American gentleman writing from Paris says, thus far, the Universal Exposition has proved a failure, and all parties are dissatisfied.

—A few days since, as the carpenters in the ship-yard of Mr. Sylvester Hardy, at Salisbury, were cutting up a large stick of white oak timber, they found a full grown and well preserved owl deeply imbedded in the wood.

—The gold received at the custom house at Boston for the first four months of the present year amounts to $5,699,183, against $1,553,093 for the corresponding period of 1863.

—The London Times remarks that the recent treaty for the relinquishment of Russian America to the United States "is the first time that Russia has ever receded from a territory which it has once acquired."

—Max. Strakosch proposes to play an opera season at Chicago with the Parepa Brignola troupe, and other artists.

—United States Treasurer Spinner received two letters on Saturday, postmarked Cincinnati, containg $3500 in conscience money.

—Coral jewelry is one of the most prominent novelties of its class in Paris. The rose-pink variety is most esteemed, and is worth twenty times its weight in gold.

—The harbor of Buffalo, N. Y., was blockaded by ice on the 6th, blown in by the gale which had prevailed for a day or two.

The state treasurer of New Hampshire receives a salary of only $600, and is obliged to give bonds of $200,000. There must be either an extraordinary amount of honor or stealing connected with the office.

—The Cincinnati merchants are considering the propriety of having a law passed taxing "eastern drummers," requiring them to take out a city license.

—A dispatch from 307 miles west of Omaha, dated May 1st, says: "The Union Pacific railroad track is being laid at the rate of two miles a day." That will do.

—The state treasury of Alabama will soon commence the issuance of $400,000, authorized by the last session of the legislature, in one, two and three dollar notes. They will be receivable for taxes and for dues to the state, and are exempted from any tax under the United States revenue law.

—Loyalty is defined in the dictionary as "fidelity to a prince." As we have no prince to be loyal to except the "black prince," it means fidelity to the nigger—as long as you can count on his vote.

—The statement that two United States soldiers had been murdered in Edgefield district, South Carolina, turns out to be a pure, unadulterated lie, manufactured by a latter-day saint for northern consumption.

—Wisconsin has a new law which disqualifies liquor sellers from holding the office of justice of the peace. Why not disqualify liquor drinkers from holding that office.

—The Jacksonville (Fla.) Union says the registration boards in the several counties in that state, under the Sherman bill, will be composed of one colored and two white gentlemen.

—It is said some of the people of Lynchburg, Va., have decided to camp out for the summer, on account of high rents.

—By the act of Congress approved March 2, 1867, no revenue stamp is needed upon affidavits. It has been suggested to us that the Treasurer's corporations and Justices of the Peace need to be reminded of this fact.

—The Boston Herald estimates that over two thousand men have been thrown out of employment by the closing of the bar rooms in that city, and at least five hundred stores in the city proper, and East and South Boston have a "to let" placed on the shutters.

—Richard B. Kimball, the novelist, is reported to be writing a new and powerful story of American life, to be brought out in two volumes by a prominent New York publishing house.

—A foolish farmer in New York has sent a barrel of apples to Queen Victoria. His return for the gift was a letter from one of her majesty's secretaries with the queen's thanks.

—Miss Maggie Mitchell is going with the Plymouth church excursionists to the Holy Land. Robert Henry Hendershott, "the Drummer Boy of the Rappahannock," is also going in an official capacity.

—A company has been formed in Meriden, Conn., for the manufacture of hats by a machine which weaves them whole. The capital stock is $400,000, and it took $75,000 to buy the different patents used in the machine.

—The secretary of the union league in Alabama, Mr. John C. Keffer, says that, although organized only a year ago, it now numbers 38,000 white and 12,000 colored members. The "mountain men" are generally not only loyal but very radical.

—Eight years ago fourteen rabbits were turned out in Mr. Austin's estate of Barwon park, Melbourne. The number of their progeny shot last year on this estate was 14,253; and in spite of this destruction, and what goes on outside the estate, they have swarmed over the neighboring country, and have been found at considerable distance around.

MASONIC INTELLIGENCE.

GERMAN MASONS IN THE MIDDLE AGES.

The following is an extract from a little work on the organization of the trades and handicrafts in Germany during the middle ages, by Ch. L. Stock, Magdeburg, 1845. Some of the customs of the stonemasons of these days strongly corroborate the opinion that Freemasonry was originally closely connected with the real stonemasons, and that we are indebted for some of the noblest remains of Gothic architecture to the design and co-operation of that Order. It is well known the journeymen of each craft had their own manner of making themselves known to their brothers, and obtaining aid and protection whenever they stood in need of them. For this purpose each craft had its peculiar mode of salutation: the following was that of the Masons, from which the readers of this journal must draw their own inferences:

"With your favor and permission, God bless this plan and all that stand around thee. (Here the journeymen place two seals upon one another at right angles, thus, X.) (The honorable members here read the letters presented to them, or return the salute.) Stranger—I am a Mason by salute; through snow and ice have I come. Do you wish to know my name? Master—Who has sent thee hither? Stranger—My honorable master, the overseer, and the whole honorable craft of Masons in the city of N. N. Master—For what purpose did they send thee? Stranger—For the purpose of honorable promotion, morals and honorable conduct. Master—What dost thou understand by morals and honorable conduct? Stranger—The usages and habits of our Craft. Master—When do these commence? Stranger—When I have honestly and faithfully completed my apprenticeship. Master—When do they finish? Stranger—When death breaks my heart. Master—By what means is the Mason known? Stranger—By his honorable conduct. Master—What sort of a Mason art thou? Stranger—I am a mouth Mason. Master—How dost thou make this known? Stranger—By my honorable salute and the words of my tongue. Master—Where was the honorable Craft of Masons first erected in Germany? Stranger—At the dome of Magdeburg. Master—Under what monarch? Stranger—Under Emperor Charles II., of the Christian religion, the fifth in the year 876. Master—How long did that emperor reign? Stranger—Three years. Master—What was the name of the first Mason? Stranger—Hieronymus—and the first tool was called "Walkim." Master—How many words has the Mason? Stranger—Seven. Master—Name them. Stranger—God bless all honorable conduct. God bless all honorable knowledge. God bless the honorable Craft of Masonry. God bless the honorable Master. God bless the honorable Foreman. God bless the honorable Fraternity. God grant honorable promotion to all Masons here and all places by sea and by land. Master—What is secrecy in itself? Stranger—Earth, fire, air, snow, through which I hope to be promoted. Master—What dost thou carry under thy hat? Stranger—Honorable wisdom (knowledge of my Craft). Master—What dost thou carry under thy tongue? Stranger—Nothing but honorable truth. Master—Why dost thou carry an apron? Stranger—In honor of my Craft, and for my own advantage. Master—What constitutes the strength of thy work. Stranger—That which cannot be consumed either by fire or by water.

ROYAL ARCH JURISPRUDENCE.

OHIO—CONTINUED.

"15. The recommendation and voucher of the Chapter nearest the place where the new Chapter is intended to be opened, is all in the way of recommendation that is required to accompany the petition for such new Chapter.

"16. Whether or not the erasure of a name from a petition for a new Chapter is such an offense as will subject the companion who did it to Masonic discipline, depends upon the intention with which it was done, and the light in which the act may be viewed by the Chapter of which the companion is a member, or in whose jurisdiction the matter occurred. Such Chapter is the only tribunal before which the question can be tried, and there the charges, if any are to be made, must be preferred.

"17. Cases of emergency are still recognized in the Chapter. Under Rule III. of the Rules of the Grand Chapter for the government of its subordinates, by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, at a stated meeting, a case presented in the petition of an applicant for the degrees, may be declared an emergent one, and the Chapter proceed, at such stated meeting, to act upon the petition.

"18. Under the Rules of the Grand Chapter, the election of officers in a subordinate Chapter must take place at the stated meeting of such Chapter next preceding or succeeding the festival of St. John the Evangelist. This rule is the paramount law of Masonry on this subject in this jurisdiction, and the by-law of any Chapter, fixing a time for the election of its officers different from that fixed by the rule of the Grand Chapter, is absolutely null and void.

"19. An applicant for the Chapter degrees must reside within the jurisdiction of the Chapter to which he makes his application. The jurisdiction of a subordinate Chapter in this state does not extend beyond the line of the state. A Chapter in this state cannot therefore receive the petition of a Master Mason in an adjoining state for the Chapter degrees without the consent of the Chapter in whose jurisdiction he resides.

"20. An applicant for the Chapter degrees must be a member in good standing of a Lodge of Master Masons; but it is not necessary that the Lodge of which he is a member should be within the jurisdiction of the Chapter to which he makes his application.

"21. When a Chapter receives a petition for the Chapter degrees from a Master Mason residing within its jurisdiction, and a clear ballot ensues, and before receiving the degrees, and the jurisdiction of such Chapter is so changed by the establishment of a new Chapter, that such brother no longer resides within the jurisdiction of the Chapter to which he presented his petition, such Chapter, notwithstanding such change of jurisdiction, has the right to complete its work by conferring the degrees upon him, and no other Chapter can receive his petition and confer the degrees upon him without the consent of such Chapter.

"22. A Past or Present High Priest has the right to install the officers elect of a Chapter, without a dispensation from the Grand High Priest. Such installing officer must be a Past or Present High Priest, and neither the Grand High Priest or the High Priest elect of a Chapter, can empower a companion to install the officers elect of a Chapter, who is not a Past or Present High Priest.

"23. If the officers elect of a Chapter are not installed within forty days after their election, the old officers hold over until the next election.

"24. When two or more Chapters are located in the same city, their jurisdiction is concurrent, and the petitioners for a new Chapter, to be opened in the same city, must forward with the petition, the recommendation and voucher of all the Chapters of such city.

That we give him full and entire power to multiply and to create Inspectors in every place where those Sublime Degrees are not established, knowing perfectly his great knowledge.

THE WOMAN OF THE PEOPLE.

CHAPTER IX.

CATHERINE.

Fatum!!!

The afternoon of that fatal night whose events we have just recounted, Catherine, it will be recollected, had passed at the solitary inn, in the company of some sailors, and she had promised to return towards night.

Away from her mother for ten years, she had heard of her leaving Brest, but without learning the exact place to which she had gone to reside. By mere chance she had now discovered it. Though sunken to the lowest deep of vice, this young girl had not lost all goodness. She had preserved, amid all her degradation, a grateful remembrance of her mother's care of her infancy; and in this soul, gangrened with foul passions, there still floated on the surface some sentiments of love, piety and devotedness, like those pure flowers that sometimes bloom on the surface of an infectious and stagnant morass.

She firmly resolved to return that night, to see her mother, obtain her forgiveness, and embrace her.

Unfortunately, the sailors who were with her, kept her until a late hour at Ploudalmezeau; and when she left that village, she was so intoxicated as with great difficulty to find and follow the road that led to Margaret's inn. Yet she tried to go in that direction, but soon found herself so bewildered that she turned into a field of broom to rest.

She had hardly sitten down, when drowsiness overcame her, and she fell asleep.

Several hours passed before she awoke. It was profoundly dark, and the cold night-wind sighed sadly among the broom.

She passed her hand over her eyes, restored the circulation to her aching limbs, and began to look around her.

She found that she was near the edge of a warren, along which the high road ran, its white line stretching far off into the darkness. The moon, hid by thick clouds, gave no light. She rose with difficulty, and was about to advance towards the ditch, to leave the field, when she thought she heard, a little way off a confused murmur of low voices. Then she descried as it were shadows, advancing.

She remained motionless and watchful.

Soon she could distinctly see two men, skirting the warren, bearing a burden that seemed very heavy. They halted, a few steps only from the young girl, and let fall heavily on the ground their load, which returned a faint, dead sound.

—Here is a good placarde 1), said the smaller of the two countrymen, (for they were dressed like peasants); if we bring it among the broom, and any one should allumer(2) it, they will believe it is some chariot (3), that has fait suer le chene (4).

Catherine listening, trembled at these words. In the infamous places that she had frequented for two years, she had become accustomed to that mysterious language of crime; the Convict-guards, released convicts and receivers of stolen goods of the Rue des Petits Moulins had long before this initiated her in the jargon en bigorne.

So she understood what had been said, and the conversation that followed.

—Besides, the other said, that no one comes here. This broom is but two longes(1) old, and will not be raccourci(2) yet.

—Hast thou the mattock?

—Yes, here it is, and the shovel. Planque-toi (3) a little further this way in the thicket!

The two men came a little way into the field, and Catherine soon heard the dull sound of the mattock striking the ground.

Meanwhile her eyes were turned upon the burthen, which had been laid down a few steps from her. It was a long bag of cloth, and, as she could judge by the feeble light of two or three stars which alone glimmered in the sky, it seemed to be marked with long, dark, moist spots running across it. But who was the victim, and where had it been murdered? She determined to do all she could to find out.

She was not of a timid nature, and moreover, the lingering effects of intoxication supplied all her faculties with that unnatural excitement, which serves even the most cowardly in lieu of courage. She resolved to make no attempt to flee, and crouching behind a bunch of broom continued to observe everything.

The two countrymen soon finished the pit they were digging. They came back, and took up the box, each lifting an end, to carry it there.

—Ne épargne le peitou,"(4) said the taller, and take care no maquis(5) gets on your clothes.

—It is hard to do that. The crasoir(6) is on my side, and it runs like picois(7) from a faucet.

—They went to the pit and threw in their load. It was soon covered up, and Catherine heard them dance on it, to tread down the earth. The turf was then carefully replaced upon it, and the broom-plants set in their original place.

—All is done now, said one of the men; there's one fellow who will have no more mal aux dominos.

—Yes, done, replied the other, in a grum and sombre voice, and taking off his hat:

—Now, we are quits: a revoir, Bordenson!....

A slight murmur, like a stifled cry, followed the utterance of that name.

—Prete loche,(1) Ivon! Didst thou hear?

—What?

—It was like some one criblant.(2)

—Bah! the wind in the broom. Thou art a taffeur.(3)

The two drew near to Catherine.

—This time it is not taf.(4) I hear horses. Reluque(5) on the estrade(6).

They stopped, and looked along the high road.

—It is cognes.(6) Take care we are not marrons paumes.(7.)

Both immediately squatted down. Their elbows touched Catherine. She dared not breathe.

The gendarmes rode by.

—Now, Ivon, donnons-la-nous,(8) in a hurry! M'ont ils coque la taffe.(9) when they went by. The trefle me faisait trente et un (10)

They rose, and made for the gate by which they had entered the field. The sound of their foot-steps soon died away.

Catherine cautiously rose, crept, rather than walked, to the ditch, and looked over.

She thought she discovered two men retreating up on the road, away from Ploudalmezeau. She did not doubt that they were the same to whom she had been listening.

Then she descended the slope that served to enclose the warren, and went towards the village.

* * * * * * * * *

Catherine had been about half an hour at the house of the Justice of the Peace; she had recounted to him with great particularity her adventure of the night, and the Magistrate was engaged in writing out her deposition, when the sound of hoofs was heard in the court, and the Brigadier of Ploudalmezau appeared at the door of the office, holding by the hand a woman who hid her face with her apron, and appeared a prey to the most poignant grief.

—What is it, Lomie? asked the Justice of the Peace.

—Pardon, excuse, mon'Judge, if I disturb you, the gendarme replied, carrying in military fashion his hand to his cap; I would not have stormed the Coorjugal hearth at this hour, if I had not perceived your don as one would say open, and a light in your office. Here is the affair: To-night, Kerkoff (who is a two-bladed knife, as you know), came to whisper in my ear that there were two escaped convicts at the solitary inn. Good, I said, and in a quarter of an hour I had my men mount, and we went at a gallop to the place indicated. On reaching it, we saw a candle burning in the hovel; we pushed open the door, which was unfastened, and what did we find, my Judge? This woman here busy washing up blood, with which the walls and door were red.........As soon as she saw us, she almost fainted, and set to crying, "I am lost!" Then I, with gentleness, apprehended her, with the courtesy due to her sex; I left three of my singing boys at the inn, and returned to bring you the individual.

Catherine had listened with singular attention and anxiety to the report of the Brigadier: a vague presentiment alarmed her. She leaned forward to see the features of the woman whom the gendarme had brought; but the prisoner continued to cover her face, and to sob.

The Justice of the Peace rose.

—This is very important, he said; at the moment when you entered, Brigadier, I was taking the declaration of this young girl, who precisely saw, about an hour ago, two assassins carry away and bury a dead body.

Scarcely had these words been uttered, than the woman let fall the apron which concealed her face, and sought with her eyes the young girl of whom the magistrate had spoken.

At the same instant Catherine uttered a loud cry and sprang towards her.

The woman of the solitary inn was Margaret Cosquer.

Some days after, Cosquer and Barazer, who had escaped the pursuit of the gendarmes of Plondalmezeau, were met by the convict-keepers sent to re-take them. Cosquer, though surprised, attempted to resist, and mortally wounded one of the soldiers of the jail; but himself struck by a ball in the chest, he fell senseless, and was taken to the hospital of Brest, where he died a few days afterward.

As to Barazer and Margaret, both were committed to prison, under the joint charge of having assassinated Hyacynthe-Marie Bordenson, ship-builder.

*(1) place.—(2) see.—(3) assassin.—(4) killed on the highroad.—(5) argot, or caut jargon.

—(1) Years.—(2) cut.—(3) put thyself.—(4) take care. (5) rouge, red, blood.—(6) head. (7) wine. (8) tooth-ache.

(1) Listen.—(2) crying out.—(3) timid one.

LATE FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to St. Louis Republican.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Indian bureau has just issued for the senate a long tabular statement of the approximate number of persons belonging to each tribe of Indians in the United States. The total number is three hundred and six thousand four hundred and seventy-five. The Cherokees, Apaches, Choctaw and Creek tribes average about fourteen thousand each.

Senator Doolittle has been appointed by the President a special agent to visit the Russian government on a secret service mission. It is generally supposed that it refers to the recently ratified Russian treaty. He had an audience with the president to-day preparatory to his departure.

The commissioner of the general land office has received returns showing that 38,278 acres of public lands were disposed of during the month of April last in Michigan, Minnesota, Western Arkansas, Florida, and the greater portion of the land was taken for actual settlement and cultivation.

The counsel of Mr. Davis are very anxious that his trial shall not proceed under Judge Underwood. His counsel will state in court, on Monday next, when the prisoner is brought in, that they are not ready for trial, and will move in the meantime to admit the prisoner to bail. The counsel of Mr. Davis are endeavoring to have their client tried before Chief Justice Chase.

An evening paper says that on the day before Sanford Conover, who was convicted of perjury in falsely swearing before the judiciary committee, was to be taken to the penitentiary, the warden of the jail received a telegram from congressman Ashley requiring Conover's detention until his (Ashley's) arrival. He came to Washington and the same night had a long interview with Conover at the jail. These visits since that time have been frequently repeated.

But few visitors were at the executive mansion to-day, nearly all of whom had an interview with the President. Secretary Stanton, Postmaster General Randall, Gen. Banks and Senator Doolittle, had interviews with the executive this forenoon.

The commissioner of agriculture is daily receiving a large number of letters from persons in the southern states, in which they express their gratitude for seeds received by them from the agricultural department.

The judiciary committee heard no evidence to-day, but spent the two hours they were in session in discussing legal points and looking over some printed documents relating to the appointment of provisional governors.

The Japanese commissioners have determined to commence their tour of inspection of navy yards, arsenals, etc., to-morrow, and will leave in the morning, accompanied by a special agent of the government on a tour of inspection to the naval school at Annapolis.

This company will restrict their business to FIRST CLASS RISKS. Policies issued from one month to six years. It is a HOME COMPANY, pledged and devoted to the furtherance of HOME INTERESTS.

The mutual system has deservedly become the most popular mode of insurance in the United States, and is the one embraced by those best informed upon the subject, and who appreciate and desire security, perpetuity and economy. In a purely mutual company the assured derives all the advantages which can be realized from an insurance, and at the lowest rates, or exact cost, paying no tribute or profits to the proprietors or stockholders for, perhaps, an inadequate capital or security. Cheapness combined with security, and a certainty of accomplishing the object in view, are the essential elements sought for, and they may be found eminently existing in a well conducted mutual insurance company, and such a company the Incorporators and Officers propose for the Tennessee State Mutual. Full information will be furnished at the office of the company. There are SEVENTEEN mutual insurance companies in successful operation in St. Louis, covering by their policies SEVEN-EIGHTHS of the real estate of that city. Such is the popularity of the mutual principle in our sister city. ap4 1m

ANOTHER PRAGMATIC SANCTION.

During the whole reign of the Emperor AUGUSTUS, the Roman forms of legislation, the Leges and Senatu-Consulta, those vestiges of lying liberty, as they are called by TACITUS, were preserved. He encouraged free discussion of all subjects by the Senate, and when a law was approved by them, he permitted it, agreeably to the ancient forms of the Republic, to be referred to the people.

This reference to the people Tiberius abolished; and afterwards the laws of Rome originated and were completed in the Senate.

HADRIAN was the first Emperor who exercised without disguise the plenitude of legislative power. With him the Imperial Constitutions, under the various names of Rescripta, Epistolæ, Decreta, Edicta, Pragmaticæ Sanctiones, Orationes, and Annotationes, originated, and had the force of law in every part of the Roman State.

SICKLES has leaped at once to the sublime height of the Imperial Omnipotence of HADRIAN. The following extraordinary order or Pragmatic Sanction has the genuine Imperial ring:

EXPLANATORY CIRCULAR FROM GEN. SICKLES.

HDQRS. SECOND MILITARY DIVISION, }
CHARLESTON, S. C., April 27, 1867. }
[Circular.]

> In reply to letters received at these headquarters, asking information as to the operation in particular cases of general order No. 10, current series, from these headquarters, I am directed by the commanding general to state that the provisions of the order will be interpreted and enforced by the courts. The order is to be deemed and taken as an ordinance, having the sanction and authority of the United States, for the regulation of certain civil affairs therein specified within so much of the territory occupied by the military forces of the United States, lately the theater of war, as is embraced within the second military district created by act of congress.
>
> Although some of the former political relations of the inhabitants are in abeyance, their private relations, their persons and property, and their remedies for wrongs, remain as heretofore, within the cognizance of the local tribunals, and subject to the laws of the provisional government hitherto in force, except so far as such laws are in conflict with the constitution and laws of the United States, or with the regulations prescribed by the commanding general.
>
> Among the consequences necessarily incident to the military authority established by congress, and indispensable to the objects for which the authority is established, is the appointment and control of the civil agents by whom and the measures by which the government ad interim is to be conducted. In the exercise of this authority, such regulations and appointments will be announced from time to time as may become necessary; and so far as these regulations concern the ordinary civil relations of the inhabitants, they will be administered by the courts and by the proper civil officers in the usual course of procedure.
>
> While it will not be convenient to respond to particular inquiries made by citizens as to the interpretation and application of these regulations, such interrogatories will be answered when addressed to the general commanding by the appellate courts of law and equity.
>
> J. W. CLOUS,
> Capt. 38th Inf., A. D. C., and A. A. A. G.

Certainly there is nothing in modern history that can compare with the extravagant and insulting insolence of this Rescript. Order No. 10, to which it refers, is that in which "the Commanding General" played the legislator, suspended proceedings in suits and to enforce judgments, and prohibited suits on contracts for the payment of money due upon purchases of negroes. This order, SICKLES now declares shall be "deemed as an ordinance having the sanction and authority of the United States." He orders the courts and civil officers of the State to "administer" this order, and such other regulations made by him, as may "concern the ordinary civil relations of the inhabitants." These Courts and officers must accept his Rescripts as the Roman State accepted those of HADRIAN: and finally, with an arrogance unexampled and that amazes one, he announces that he cannot take the trouble to inform individuals how his regulations are to be interpreted and applied, but he WILL answer such interrogatories when addressed to him by the appellative Courts of Law and Equity. The Courts of Appeal of North and South Carolina, (two of the old Thirteen States, which once were honored because they deserved to be so) are to receive the interpretation of SICKLES' Regulations, as the supreme law of their States, from SICKLES himself, and declare and decide the law as he shall instruct them. The reports of those Courts will become valuable. SICKLES will sit in them, as EDWARD the First of England sat in his, by his Judges. He ought also to become like HENRY VIII, Defender of the Faith, and Head of the Church, promulgate a creed of christian or some other faith, and declare himself, like the Pope, Supreme and Infallible Pontiff. The Emperors, we venture to suggest, were also Pontifices Maximi, and invested with the attributes of Divinity, even in their lifetimes. Divus, Divine, was their special title. If the Courts of Appeal of North and South Carolina are to go to DAN SICKLES for instructions as to what they shall hold the true meaning of his rescripts to be, he ought at once to assume that title. Divus Danielus, Cæsar atque Imperator. Vive l'Empereur!

THE DIS-HON. HENRY WILSON.

This Bohemian is earning for himself a very unenviable notoriety. Do what he might, it would have been very difficult for him, as any one who ever saw him will understand, to pass himself off among shrewd Southern darkeys for a "fus' class white man." All his idiosyncracies, of which, it seems, veracity is not one, are like upheaved geological strata, which, originally superposed horizontally on each other, have been so tilted up that the edges of all crop out and may be examined at leisure.

The secret of the present peregrination of this apostle of malignancy is to be found in the necessity of securing the votes of the Southern States in Congress, when they are reconstructed, for the high tariffs against which the North-west is about to rebel, and the anxiety of the Northern manufacturers to have a reconstructed South represented before the black-mailing of the rest of the Union by New England shall receive its death-wound. New England is now the Jeremy Diddler of the Union, using its twelve Senators to tax all the rest of the States for the benefit of its manufacturers. When HENRY WILSON was a Know-Nothing, and sat with us in the National Council of that party in Philadelphia, formal propositions were made, to us, by Northern Members of the party, to the effect that if the South would agree to removing the duties on raw wool, and increasing those on manufactured woollen goods, the question of slavery and the violation of the Missouri Compromise could easily be arranged. The policy of New England for twenty years and more has been, to unite the North by means of the slavery question, in order to defeat the opposition of the South to a high protective tariff.

Mr. WILSON, at Norfolk, on the 24th of April, declared that "he was not there as the agent of any political organization." Upon this, the National Intelligencer says:

> We do not know what precise meaning Mr. Wilson attaches to this phrase, but one thing is certain, that he advocated the reconstruction bills on the avowed ground that they would enable his party to get political control of several of the southern states, without a doubt, and he expressed the hope of securing all of them except Virginia. He avowed his purpose, then to make a southern canvass in favor of radicalism, and we suppose that he is now redeeming his pledge. But we cannot see how he can make a tour of speech-making for "the great republican party," without being an "agent of a political organization."

We can. He is the agent of the New England manufacturers, hedging against the growing anti-tariff spirit of the North West. That region is beginning to be clamorous against the plundering system; but it gives all its votes to maintain the infamous, thieving, mean, tax on cotton, that robs every negro on our plantations of a tenth of his wages. And we sincerely hope that the South may not give a vote to relieve the North West of the yoke New England has laid upon it, until the burthen becomes intolerable.

WILSON is in the Pecksniffian habit of canting about "forgetting the past," and "uniting shoulder to shoulder to build up our common Union." Hypocrisy is the involuntary homage that vice pays to virtue, and HENRY WILSON acknowledges the excellence of magnanimity, by pretending to be magnanimous. If he were so, he would carefully avoid saying anything to wound the vanquished. Yet, says the Intelligencer, "he went over the thread-bare topics of anti-slavery agitators, the maltreatment of Abolitionists, the annexation of Texas, Kansas, the fugitive slave law, the DRED SCOTT decision, the secession ordinances, the war, and studiously sought to put his Southern hearers in the wrong. His policy is that of a surgeon who would cure a severe wound by lacerating it. . . . We wonder how any man of heart, in the midst of the wasted fields, the mourning homes, and pinching desolation of the Old Dominion, can stand up and taunt her suffering people with their errors; and we wonder at the stupidity of a politician who fancies that he can make votes by lacerating feelings."

Perhaps the nature of HENRY WILSON can be best judged of by this passage of the same speech. It is a very honourable occupation for a Senator to undertake to deceive and mislead negroes by deliberate lies:

> He then alluded to how this change in the condition of the colored man was brought about. When first plunged into war we hadn't the power to declare you free. Could congress have declared you all free at the beginning of the war, it wouldn't have lasted two years, [A voice, "That's so!"] because there would have been nothing left to fight about. But while this fighting was going on, the rebels had the slaves in the trenches digging and throwing up breastworks, while their masters stood behind and shot down our soldiers.

As to which we again quote from the Intelligencer as follows:

> The power of the government to issue the emancipation proclamation was as great in the first year of the war as on the first of January, eighteen hundred and sixty-three. But the disposition was wanting. Congress expressly declared the object of the war to be the restoration of the union, and the rights, dignity, and equality of the states unimpaired. In point of fact, congress never did declare the slaves free. That was the act of Mr. Lincoln. But the power of congress to do it was as great in April, 1861, as at any later date. Mr. Wilson is simply guilty of a gross mis-statement in implying that congress refrained from striking off the shackles of the slave for want of power, and in undertaking to make out that the legislation of that body was originally governed by regard for the black man. Partisan necessity has controled that body from the start. Slavery was destroyed, not out of love for the colored man, but to break down white rebels. The negro was armed, not as a concession to the manhood of the blacks, but to help the white unionists. The civil rights bill sprung not from an abstract love of justice, but to cripple the power of the white race of the south. Negro suffrage is due, not to sympathy for the blacks, but to the desire to build up a radical party at the south.

A still more contemptible falsehood was WILSON'S repeated declaration that he had no wish to provoke an antagonism of races, or create a black man's party. For in this very speech, says the Intelligencer, we find him saying:

> "Place those who denounce suffrage, but who are willing to have you vote for them, on one side, and array yourself on the other. I want to see you defeat them at the polls in every portion of Virginia and in all parts of the south. Their ideas have gone down; send them down after their ideas." Such language is simply atrocious. It grows out of a studied purpose to array the black population against the white, and, if the object is accomplished, must damage both races. If negroes are to vote, as is now required by act of congress, wise men should desire to have them divide as other voters should do, not all enlisted on one side. But here is a pretended friend and counsellor who advises them to array themselves solidly against their late masters.
>
> But this orator, who was not "the agent of any political organization," advises "the colored men to stand square upon its (the republican) platform," and that they have it in their power "to make the constitution of their state, and could send at least two senators and a majority of the members of congress;" and, after admitting that he had said that "we could not expect to carry Virginia, Texas and Arkansas," "takes back all, as far as Virginia is concerned." And he winds up this precious passage by declaring that this is a work that a christian may take into his closet, and on bended knees ask a blessing of the Almighty. Ask the blessing of heaven on stirring up strife, on appeals to the passions, on palpable misrepresentations such as we have exposed! Yet this is a sample of radical christianity and of enlightened statesmanship.

SCALLAWAGTON IN TROUBLE.

The Chicago Times come to us with the following, in staring type, stretched out to a third of a column:

The Strike-Riots—The Difficulties Daily Increasing—Additional Outrages Committed by Mobs—Their Depredations Extend to All Divisions of the City and All Classes of Workingmen—Laborers Compelled to Desist from Work by Force—Proprietors of Manufactories Threatened with Violence—Determined Stand Assumed by a Large Majority of Employers—Meetings Held by the Strikers Yesterday—Their Resolutions—Detailed Account of the Condition of Affairs in Various Establishments—Riots in Bridgeport and in the West Division—The Rioters Repeatedly Dispersed by the Police—Arrest of the Ringleaders—Mayor Rice Makes a Speech—He Also Issues a Proclamation—The Police Force Increased—Summary Measures Said to be Determined Upon—What Proprietors Say—Arguments Pro and Con—Scenes and Incidents—More Trouble Anticipated To-Day.

It is the beginning of the end, the war of labour against capital, out of which, at last, revolution is to grow, and then an Empire. We see also, in the same paper, accounts of two great fires punishing the heartless cruel city that when our starving widows and children wailed to it, replied with brutal laughter from part of its human herd, while, except a few generous and noble hearts, the rest kept on their sordid way with a stolid cold indifference. In riot and fire Heaven dispenses its justice, and in these we see the beginning of the North's long punishment. The lightnings of the financial storm are flashing, too; and the hoarse mutterings of the thunder roll from New York across the Lakes. A great failure at the Commercial Capital shakes confidence and shatters credit in the Provincial centres of corruption, as a great wave, curling over thunders down upon the sea-beach, in spray and foam, shaking the strand and sending far inland the reverberating echoes that announce the coming of the wild thick darkness of the storm.

It is BELSHAZZAR'S feast in the lewd Babylon of the North. Only, instead of one King surrounded by his court, a score of miscreants, the SUMNERS, STEVENSES and BUTLERS, flushed with successful villainy, and arrogant with victory, insult the Lord of Hosts. The handwriting is upon the wall; and yet the doomed are drunken with the fumes of self-conceit and arrogance, of which are sure to come the "weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth" of the damned who sold themselves to the Arch-Enemy of GOD for the poor paltry price of gratified hatred and satiated revenge.

KENTUCKY REDEEMED.

Kentucky has concluded to relieve itself of the disgrace of being misrepresented by Radicals in Congress. Democracy has triumphed all over the State. The Louisville Courier thus announces the rout of the Jacobins and Third Party:

A CLEAN SWEEP—AN UNBROKEN DELEGATION.

> By the returns which we publish this morning, it will be seen that the democracy have carried every district in the state, and by majorities largely exceeding, in proportion to the vote cast, those given for Judge Duvall last year. Nothing like full returns are yet in from the eighth and ninth districts, where the radicals claimed to have most strength, and in which they confidently expected to elect their candidates, but enough is given to show that Young and Adams have beaten their competitors.
>
> Saturday's work is one of which Kentuckians may well feel proud. Our state has elected an unbroken democratic delegation to congress, and thus proves that she is the home of a people who love liberty and are true to the constitution and the government of our fathers. Kentucky speaks with the concentrated voice of her sons, her deep condemnation of the revolutionary principles of that party which, in enfranchising the negro, seeks to enslave white men.
>
> Henceforth let it be understood that neither radicals nor disorganizers have any foothold in any part of our true and gallant old commonwealth. The glory and honor of being the first, since the commencement of the cursed reign of radicalism, to send a united democratic delegation to Washington to battle for the constitution belongs to our state.

BOOK NOTICES.

NEW AND VALUABLE LAW BOOK.

THE BANKRUPT LAW OF THE UNITED STATES with notes and a collection of the English and American decisions on the law of Bankruptcy. By EDWIN JAMES.

This excellent work has been given to the profession by a member of the New York Bar, who has had many years practice in the English Courts of Bankruptcy. The text of each head of the Law is followed by notes in which are collected all the authorities and adjudged cases relating to the points presented by that particular branch of the act, and in which also the author gives his own views.

The work is full, and as we judge from dipping into it hastily here and there, accurate and exhaustive. The lawyer who intends practising in bankrupt cases will find it not only valuable, but indispensable. The English Reports of Cases in Bankruptcy, ROSE, DEACON, DEACON & CHITTY, and others, are not to be had here, and the decisions they contain can only be got at by means of the citations in this book.

It is for sale by C. C. CLEAVES & Co., corner Second and Monroe streets.

A GOOD BOOK.

STUDIES IN ENGLISH, or, Glimpses of the Inner Life of our Language; by M. SCHELE DE VERE, LL. D., Professor of Modern Languages in the University of Virginia. NEW YORK: Charles Scribner and Company.

This is a work worth studying, and which will both entertain and instruct. The author has been long known to scholars, by his labors in the science of Philology; and we have here the ripe fruit of many years' research and thought, in a book on every page of which there is something to be learned in regard to the origin and meaning of the words of our own language. Those who have found instruction and pleasure in TOOKE'S Diversions of Purley and the works of Trench, will devour with eagerness the work of Professor DE VERE.

She reports that Gourz, who commands at Tampico, is in open revolt against Juarez. On the 5th, Gen. Pavon, commanding the forces north of Vera Cruz, received orders to relieve Gourz, who is to be dismissed from the army in disgrace. The order recites that $800,000 of customhouse funds at Tampico remained unaccounted for. Tampico has been suspended as a port of entry, and notice has been given that parties paying duties to the present incumbent are liable to have them collected again.

Jaurez has 2,500 men who are well armed and equipped. Pavan had a small force, and was incapable of assuming the offensive until reinforced, but was expecting assistance.

Canales is making a common cause with the revolting general, and threatens that if he is attacked, he will lay waste the rich district of Heractica.

Advices were received by a special courier at San Luis Potosi on the 27th ult., that on the 23d ult. Maximilian himself took the head of a column of six thousand men, and led them in a sortie; the fight lasted all day. The liberals were surprised at first, and driven back, but were subsequently rallied by Fravus and Cevana, and repulsed the imperialists, who took refuge in the city. The liberals held a portion of the city for a few hours, and then took up their old position behind. San Luis prisoners of the 23d represent water and provisions as very scarce in the city, which would soon have to succomb.

Beaw[illegible]es continues to besiege Vera Cruz. He has a force of 4000 or 5000 men, and has completely invested the city by land. Provisions are said to be very scarce in the city, and the citizens are eating horse flesh.

The death of Miramon is confirmed.

A committee of ladies had come out of the City of Mexico, in behalf of the besieged, asking a guarantee for general safety, which was granted conditionally, excluding Marquez, O'Harran, and other imperialist generals.

Diaz was daily receiving reinforcements from the nighboring towns.

Gov. Throckmorton says he has not recommended persons to register, and declines to do so. The books and papers, however, had arrived, and the registration is expected to commence again.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 11.—Leave taking was exchanged by Mr. Davis and his family in the fort, just prior to their departure for the steamer. Gen. Burton walked on one side of Mr. Davis and on the other was his physician, Dr. Cooper. Gen. Davis, who had just arrived from Vicksburg, escorted Mrs. Davis and her sister, and they were followed by several friends. A large crowd was gathered on the wharf to witness their departure. Mr. Davis conversed cheerfully with his friends after they had gotten aboard the steamer John Sylvester. He looked much better than when first imprisoned, though very pale and much attenuated. Marshals Underwood and Duncan accompany him to Richmond.

CHICAGO, May 11.—A special from Council Bluffs reports the destruction of the steamer Miner by the Indians, about five hundred miles above Sioux City. The boat landed to take on wood, and while the crew were chopping the Indians, about two hundred in number, surrounded and massacred the whole party, killing and scalping men, women and children indiscriminately, only two escaping. After pillaging it, the boat was burned to the waters edge.

RICHMOND, May 11.—The statement that the grand jury had indicted the proprietors of certain newspapers is unfounded.

The grand jury, after consulting Gen. Schofield, refused to indict the street car conductor for ejecting the negro Harris on Friday last.

LOUISVILLE, May 11.—The river is falling fast, with eight feet six inches in the canal. The low-pressure steamer Richmond left for New Orleans.

LONDON, May 11—Noon.—Consols 92¾; 5-20's, 73; Illinois Central, 76½; Erie, 43.

LIVERPOOL, May 11—Noon.—Cotton quiet. Sales 15,000 uplands 11½; Orleans, 11⅝d.

LONDON, May 11.—The death sentence of the Fenian prisoner Doran has been commuted to a long imprisonment.

Lord Derby says officially that the government will not publish the real history of the recent Fenian uprising, on account of apprehended trouble with certain foreign governments, which are involved in the plot.

The treaties of the great powers on the Luxembourg question will be formally signed to-morrow.

KALSOMINING!

The undersigned are introducing this beautiful finish for Walls and Ceilings, so much used in Europe and Eastern cities, and are now prepared to execute all orders with neatness and dispatch.

KALSOMINE is a chemical composition, and all colors, from the lily or snow white to the darkest shades, can be produced, and when applied makes a finish nearly equal to the best paint, and is much cheaper than paint or paper hangings. It will purify the walls and prevent bugs or vermin, thereby promoting health and comfort. IT WILL NOT RUB OFF, nor soil the most delicate fabric. It is done with dispatch and lasts several years, and possesses many advantages over paint or paper, and is superior to the common whitewash.

Ceilings finished with the lily or snow white. Walls tinted in French and Silver Greys, Lilac, Drabs or any other color desired. Orders promptly attended to, and satisfaction guaranteed.

No. 1.
THE CHINGARORA
ANTI-NERVOUS
SMOKING TOBACCO!

THE CHINGARORA TOBACCO grows from the rich soil of the "ORIENT," and is possessed of a peculiarly delicious flavor entirely unknown to the tobaccos of all other climes. But its unprecedented popularity has sprung from the fact of the entire absence of that deadly poison Nicotin, which permeates every other tobacco, and which is the one and sole cause of the distressing nervous diseases, dyspepsia, etc., which most invariably, sooner or later, follow the indulgence of the pipe and cigar. At the recent analyzation of tobacco from all parts of the world, at the Academy of Sciences, in Paris, the renowned chemist, M. Lamoureaux, declared that while European and American tobacco contained fully eight per cent., and the purest Havana tobacco from two to five per cent of Nicotin, the CHINGARORA did not contain one discoverable particle of that deadly poison, a drop of which, extracted, will destroy life.

Our agent at BOMBAY has shipped us large quantities of the CHINGARORA during the past two years, and although we have been pressed to supply the demand for this delicious luxury to the veteran smoker, yet we are now prepared to offer it in unlimited quantities, at a price much lower than some American tobacco of a far inferior quality.

A connoisseur has but to smoke the American tobacco and cigars, which are invariably chemically flavored, to be disgusted with the medicinal taste which leaves a nauseous, unhealthy coating in the mouth, and in time seldom fails to shatter the nervous system.

The natives of the "ORIENT" smoke the CHINGARORA from morn till night, from youth to age, and are happily unconscious of the wild, distressing fire which courses through the veins of the inhaler of the fumes of tobacco containing Nicotin.

We invite every lover of the weed to try the CHINGARORA, and guarantee unprecedented pleasure in its delicious flavor.

Sold everywhere at $1 a pound.

EMERSON ETHERIDGE, constitutional conservative candidate for governor, will address the people at the following times and places:

Trenton, Monday, May 13.
Brownsville, Wednesday, May 15.
Memphis, Friday, May 17.

Notice of other appointments will be given in due time.

SUNDAY READING.—Our old time friend Corwin has all the best and latest Sunday reading at his stand, Main street, near Megibben Bros. Call and see the staunch old Confed.

ANOTHER VICTIM.—The room of W. M. Allen, No. 119 Jefferson street, was entered yesterday morning, when one hundred and seventy dollars in currency and a derringer pistol was stolen. No trace of the thief.

EMMONS & SON, No. 10 Jefferson street, have received the new edition of Bouvier's Law Dictionary just issued from the press, and many other new books, together with the latest magazines and papers.

FILFEREENA.—Albert Beer laid upon our table last night a copy of this humorous work, by Darby Doyle, of the Louisville Courier. It has some decided good hits at the fashions, and it will do well to laugh at in these dull times.

A STRONG HOUSE.—We beg to call attention to the card of Messrs. Lyons, Fies & Co., wholesale and retail dealers in dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes, No. 240 Main street. This firm has a large stock on hand, and we feel confident from our personal knowledge of these gentlemen that they will give good satisfaction to their customers.

THE BEST IN THE MARKET.—The ever popular firm of N. & J. Hoffheimer, No. 276 Front street, pride themselves upon having one of the finest stocks of French brandies and old Bourbon whiskies in the market on their premises. They have a bonded warehouse, and are always ready to serve any number of customers. Call and see them.

TELEGRAMS remaining in office, May 12, 1867: W. T. Thurmond, A. C. Combs, Mrs. Mary Castello, Conway, Jones & Tate, John F. Tanner, Rhody & Parke, J. C. & W. B. Kimball, R. C. Brinkley, Susie Vanderpool, N. O. Jones, Calvin Jones, F. E. Radcliffe, Greenwold & Labe, Plummer, Curry & Co.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.—About seven o'clock last evening two negro boys were fooling with a pistol in the rear of the Commercial hotel, when it accidentally went off, wounding one of the parties, named Joe Kidman, in the stomach. It is supposed the wound will prove mortal. The injured man was removed to the State hospital.

NEW MUSIC.—We are indebted to the publisher, D. P. Faulds, No. 70 Main street, Louisville, Ky., for two pieces of new music. The "Richmond Polka," by Charlie L. Ward, dedicated to Mrs. J. Stut Neal, and the "Pet Schottiche," by Geo. E. Murray, inscribed to his little cousin, Julia C. Tapp. Not being a musician ourself, we will hand the pieces over to the fairest of our friends, whose judgment we shall be bound by.

PAINTERS.—We take pleasure in calling attention to the card of Messrs Hook & Lagrill, house and sign painters, No. 33 Union street, up stairs. We call special attention to their card wherein housekeepers and builders will learn something of importance. They are thorough masters of their profession, and any of our friends doubting the same will have their minds disabused by giving them a trial.

ALL THE NEWS.—Our young friend Albert Beer, who keeps his news-stand at No. 287 Main street, has received and keeps constantly on hand all the latest publications of the day. He daily supplies us with western papers in advance of the mails. He is ever attentive and polite. Joe is not on hand as much as usual, but civil attention even in his absence is always to be had. Call and see for yourselves.

MORE THIEVING.—It appears strange that such quantities of goods are daily stolen by dishonest negro servants, and in many cases recovered from fence houses, that the keepers of these dens are not prosecuted, or is it so easy to get one liberated on a writ of habeas corpus? Yesterday officer John Scott traced a lot of property that had been stolen from the house of Mrs. McKinney on Adams street, by a negro servant named Martha Brown to a fence house in South Memphis. The thief was arrested, but the receiver allowed to go "scot free." How is this?

STATE FEMALE COLLEGE.—We are reminded that the season of school anniversaries is again approaching. The Hon. Jeremiah W. Clapp will deliver the literary oration at the forthcoming commencement of our flourishing State Female college on the 12th of June next, and the Rev. Dr. Mann, the popular pastor of Wesley church in this city, the commencement sermon, on the Sunday previous. Our community will be glad to hear these gentlemen. A better programme could not be presented.

ANOTHER FIRE.—About four o'clock yesterday morning a fire broke out in the machine shop and foundry of Mr. J. C. Powers, on Water street, between Adams and Washington, which was speedily communicated to the machine shop of Mr. Peter Lawler, the roof of the latter building being somewhat damaged. The fire department were on hand with their accustomed speed and did good service. The building of Mr. Powers, which was very old and in a dilapidated state, was totally destroyed. His loss in castings, tools and fixtures will probably amount to eight thousand dollars. He was only partially insured. The cause of the fire is unknown.

THE SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION.

Third Day's Proceedings.

A Day of Fasting and Prayer in the Southern Baptist Churches.

Annual Conventions Hereafter--Next Session in Baltimore.

Interesting Discussion of the Question of "the Conversion of the Hebrews."

MORNING SESSION.

The Convention was called to order by the President, at 9 o'clock a.m. yesterday. Prayer by Rev. R. Furman, of S. C.

On motion of Rev. C. C. Bitting, of S. C., the resolution offered the previous day, proposing a Committee of Conference with a similar committee of the Southern Baptist Sabbath School Union, was taken up and adopted. The Committee consists of Brethren G. W. Rogers, Md.; C. C. Bitting, S. C.; G. W. M. Williams, Md.; W. D. Thomas, S. C.; D. H. Selph, Ky.

Rev. Dr. Boyce, of S. C., offered a resolution requesting the President of the Convention to prepare a manual of parliamentary law and usages adapted to the necessities of the body. Adopted.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Teasdale, of Mo., resolutions expressive of the sorrow of the Convention upon learning of the illness which has prevented the attendance of Brethren Basil Manly, Sr., of Ala., R. B. C. Howell, of Nashville, and J. B. Jeter, of Richmond, Va., and requesting Rev. Dr. Williams, of Mo., to lead the Convention in prayer for their afflicted brethren, were adopted.

A preamble and resolutions designating the Saturday before the last Sabbath in June proximo as a day of fasting and prayer by the Baptists of the South were referred to a committee consisting of Brethren J. P. Boyce, S. C., S. H. Ford, Tenn., W. C. Crane, Texas, J. R. Graves, Tenn., F. Courtenay, La., E. L. Compeer, Ark., and J. C. Maple, Ky.

Rev. Dr. Boyce of S. C., offered a resolution providing for securing the permanent services of Rev. Dr. Poindexter as Secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions. After a long, rambling discussion embracing the whole subject of Foreign Missions, participated in by Brethren Boyce, of S. C., Williams of Md., Teasdale, of Miss., Poindexter, Hunt and Bagby, of Va., and others, the resolution was laid on the table.

The following Committee on Nominating new Boards for the Convention was appointed: Brethren T. J. Keen, Ky., A. T. Spalding, Ala., W. T. Brantley, Ala., C. C. Bitting, S. C., J. W. D. Creath, Texas.

INDIAN MISSION.

The Indian Mission Board, through the Chairman, Rev. R. H. Bagby, of Va., presented a report of its operations during the past year. Owing to the limited means at command of the Board, the mission work among the Indians has been prosecuted to but a little extent. Only four missionaries have been employed—two white men and two natives. Adopted.

DOMESTIC AND INDIAN MISSION FINANCES.

The Committee on the Financial Condition of the Domestic and Indian Mission Board reported the money on hand at the commencement of the fiscal year $6740 42. The Board has employed 123 missionaries, to whom the sum of $6639 99 was due April 1st, 1867. The unpaid subscriptions are sufficient to cover these claims. Adopted.

NEXT CONVENTION.

The committee on place, time and preacher of the next convention reported in favor of the Seventh Baptist church, Baltimore, Thursday before the second Sunday in May, 1868, and Rev. J. L. M. Curry, of Alabama, as the preacher, with Rev. T. E. Skinner, of North Carolina, as alternate. An amendment to so alter the constitution as to substitute annual for biennial thus changing the date of the next convention to May, 1868, was offered by Rev. Dr. Broaddus, of Virginia. After some debate the whole was referred to a committee, with instructions to change the constitution to conform to the proposed amendment. On motion of Rev. Dr. Broaddus, this report was again brought before the Convention for action, and adopted.

Adjourned until 3 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The Convention reassembled at the appointed hour. Prayer by Rev. J. R. Cooper, of Georgia.

Rev. Dr. W. F. Broaddus, of Virginia, offered a resolution providing that, in view of the necessity of great economy in the management of the finances of the Convention in every department, the Sunday School Board be instructed to have all their printing done on the best terms possible. Adopted.

Rev. R. H. Bagby offered a series of resolutions deprecating the practice of obtaining contributions, through appeals to other motives than those which should prompt Christians to give for the spread of the gospel; and declaring that the secretaries and agents of the Convention should aim by imparting information and cultivating a spirit of true Christian benevolence, to create a solid basis on which our efforts may rest.

This evoked quite a spirited discussion, in which the modus operandi of agencies was pretty thoroughly reviewed, and no inconsiderable feeling shown. The resolutions were then withdrawn.

HEBREW CONVERSION.

The following resolution was offered by Rev. R. Furman, President of Furman University, S. C:

Resolved, That it is our duty as Christians to labor and pray more earnestly for the conversion of the Jews.

In support of the proposition the mover of the resolution remarked that it had long been his conviction that the Baptists had not bestowed proper attention to the Hebrews. He had already brought the matter before his own people. Christians had been too apt to regard these people as a stiff-necked race, upon whom it was unnecessary to bestow a prayer. He had no sympathy with the Millerites and Cummingses. He was no prophet, but he firmly believed in the ultimate conversion of the Jews. For thousands of years the Jews have stood out in the history of the world as a remarkable people. The speaker reviewed the position of the Jews in the days of the Prophets, and when the Savior taught on the earth. The Jews, notwithstanding persecutions in all countries and ages have always thrived. All attempts to destroy them have been in vain. The life of the nation is inextinguishable, and its representatives have ever borne a prominent part in the affairs of the world. He alluded to the fact that three of Napoleon's greatest Marshals—Soult, Ney and Massena—were Jews, the latter having changed his name from Manasses to escape persecution. Count Metternich, the celebrated Minister, was also a Jew. The Jews were known in all lands as the great money lenders, not only to the people, but to kingdoms. A recent writer had remarked that half a dozen Jews, sitting behind their desks in Europe, could do more toward preserving peace by crying "no," than all the peace conferences. The scales must ultimately fall from the eyes of the Jews, and they will be converted to the word of God. The holy light of God will shine upon them, sooner or later. The walls dividing them from the Christian religion will be beaten down; but by no stupendous miracle that will astound the world. He did not so regard it. It was by the preaching of the gospel and the prayers of the godly, that the Hebrews will be saved. He would repeat: "We are not doing our duty by the Jews. We have missionaries among the heathen—wherever unconverted are to be found. Where are our missionaries among the Jews?" He thought missionaries should be specially designated for this work; but if this be impracticable, they could at least receive the prayers of Christians. "Brethren do you ever pray for the Jews? I put the question and pause for a reply." His observation had been that during the last ten years he had heard of no prayer having been offered up for the Jews. This was an indication of weakness of faith, and in appreciation of the cause of the Redeemer. His speech was a high tribute to the Jewish race, and he closed with an earnest appeal to the Convention to give the question the attention its merits demanded.

Rev. Mr. Renfroe, of Alabama, desired to state that a Hebrew citizen of his town, hearing that he had not sufficient means to defray his expenses to the Convention, obtained the deficiency from his own people and gave it to him. There were several Hebrew children in his Sunday School. In the Jacksonville Sunday School, there were two children. They entered it because invited, and he was satisfied that if more efforts were made the number would be largely swelled everywhere.

Rev. J. W. D. Creath of Texas, alluded to the conversion, many years ago, of a Hebrew, who became an earnest worker in the cause of Christianity; he heartily indorsed Dr. Furman's remarks. There are now one hundred converted Jewish Rabbis in this country and England preaching the word of God.

Rev. C. C. Connor, of Texas, followed, taking strong ground in favor of an earnest, vigorous effort to bring the Hebrews into the fold of the church. It is God's law that the nations of the earth must be converted. The Hebrews were in a state of intellectual blindness, and the day was approaching when it will be removed. The unbelief of the Hebrews concerning Christ can be removed by the proper means. He regarded the Baptists as the only people under Heaven who can successfully attempt the conversion of the Jews. They were especially adapted to it. The speaker had studied and cultivated the race, and whenever approaching one of them received the reply, "I am of the race of Abraham, and as he was saved, so will I be saved." He thought they should be impressed that circumcision had been done away with for eighteen years, baptism having been substituted. This would lead them to reflect, and the most happy results might be anticipated.

Rev. J. A. Coulson also warmly advocated the resolution, in a brief speech of a somewhat similar purport to those previously delivered. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

REBUILDING CHURCHES.

Rev. G. F. Adams, of Va., presented a resolution providing that in view of the destruction of so many houses of worship throughout the South, and the inability of the churches to rebuild them, "the Domestic Board be requested to endeavor to establish a permanent fund, to be used, at their discretion, by loan or gift, by churches needing such assistance exclusively for building such houses of worship."

He advocated the adoption of the resolution in a speech of some length and much force, in the course of which he mentioned that at a meeting of one of the associations last year in Virginia, delegates reported the destruction of no less than eleven church buildings within its boundaries during the war.

The resolution was also advocated by Rev. Dr. Samson and Rev. M. T. Sumner, of Ala., who reviewed the terrible condition in which the war left Northern Virginia, the location of the association alluded to.

Upon the conclusion of the speakers, a contribution was taken up, which resulted in quite a liberal sum being obtained.

Rev. C. C. Bitting, of S. C., opposed the resolutions as tending to seriously complicate the machinery of the Home Mission Board.

Rev. Dr. Poindexter, of Va., believed the introduction of the resolution inappropriate, and moved to amend by striking out the word "permanent." On motion of Rev. P. King, of Ala., the resolution was laid on the table for the present, that a report on the Colisium Place Church of New Orleans might be received.

COLISIUM PLACE CHURCH, NEW ORLEANS.

The Committee reported the due indebtedness of this church as about $8367, secured by a mortgage, and recommended taking a new mortgage, with three years to run, which could be obtained. They also recommended the appointment of R. H. Brown, Esq., as attorney in fact, with instructions to proceed to New Orleans and take the necessary steps to execute the provisions of the report. The appointment of an efficient permanent pastor for that church was also recommended.

On motion of Rev. Dr. Boyce, of S. C., the report was made the special order of business for 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Adjourned until 10 o'clock a. m. Monday.

THE GREAT LAND LOTTERY.

Its Modes of Operation.

As the time for the first drawing of the Southern asylum approaches, there is more and more interest manifested in the operations of the institution. The very simplicity of the machinery employed by the company, causes men to misapprehend its modes of operation. The value of lands disposed of, and these the cheapest that the company holds, will be made equal to the face value of tickets disposed of up to the date of the first drawing. In other words, outstanding tickets will be redeemed by property the cheapest ever transferred in this city or its vicinity. Of course there are many who will lose, but the property distributed will be equal in value to the tickets sold. There will be no Arkansas or other swamp lands, none save the best property assessed by disinterested parties will be distributed among ticket holders. The company's purpose is to run this machine through the century, and of course, in its first operations, there is every conceivable inducement to distribute many and valuable prizes. The more tickets sold, the more property will change owners. Whether a hundred thousand or half a million dollars worth of farms and city lots are distributed, the value of each ticket is the same.

THE TOURNAMENT.

A Grand Gala Day in Prospect.

Lists Open to the World--The Widows and Orphans to be Relieved.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to the grand tournament and coronation which is to be held at the Memphis trotting park, on Wednesday, the 22d of this month. Lists open to the world. When it is remembered that the proceeds will be appropriated toward the relief of the distressed widows and orphans of the Lost Cause, no other incentive should be necessary to draw together thousands of our people. The prizes to be contested for are of the richest and most costly kind, and will no doubt cause the entry of the most gallant knights and graceful riders in all this fair land. The officers and committee of arrangements are gentlemen fully competent to the task, and are working vigorously, sparing neither pains, labor or expense to make the tournament worthy of Memphis, and beneficial to the wants of the widows and orphans of those who lost their lives in the service of their country. Ample arrangements have been made by the committee to seat ten thousand persons, and our word for it those attending the tournament will never regret having spent a day of recreation and pleasure, and at the same time contributing to the relief of the widows and orphans of the Lost Cause. We shall have more to say of this hereafter.

RITUALISM.—Twenty-eight of the bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church, issued lately an earnest protest against "ritualism," and we are not infrequently asked what ritualism is without being able to give any very definite answer. If, as the word implies, "rites" or ceremonies are protested against, one would be perplexed to determine how a church could be kept up without some external observances. But the rector of St. Lazarous church, we learn, will edify the public on this subject this morning.

NEW MEMPHIS THEATER.—Saturday nights are proverbial for "beggerly arrays of empty benches." Yesterday evening proved no exception to the rule. The audience last night was small. Had Metamora, Lear, or Coroilanus been the cast, the house would have been crowded; but everybody has seen Hamlet, a score or more of times, and our theatergoers are saving their dollars for something more attractive. Monday evening we are to have Richard III.

THE WIDOWS AND ORPHANS.—The course of lectures now being delivered for the benefit of the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers, as will be seen by a report published this morning, has been productive of much good, and the funds thus contributed have alleviated the sufferings of many a destitute family in our midst. At the close of Mr. Foute's lecture on Tuesday night last, Col. J. S. Kerr, the chairman of the committee, made some very complimentary remarks in reference to the editor in chief of this paper, Gen. Albert Pike, who will deliver the lecture on Tuesday night. The Arians will be there in full force, and for the benefit of widows and orphans we hope to see a full house.

THE FAIR MONDAY NIGHT.—The ladies of the several Methodist churches in this city inaugurate a fair Monday night, at the Stillman hall. Every arrangement has been made to render the fair a success. The proceeds are to be appropriated toward the building of a church in Chelsea. Among other things to be voted for, are a handsome suit of clothes to the most popular minister in the city, a splendid dinner set to the most popular banker and an elegant silver wine stand to the most popular steamboat captain. We predict for this fair a successful run. It will continue every night during the week.

REORGANIZED.—The popular dry goods merchants, Messrs. Elson Bros. No. 297 Main street, having put in a new front and thoroughly refitted and newly painted their store, are again in full blast, and judging from the crowd of purchasers we saw there yesterday, they must be doing a flourishing business. They have on hand one of the largest and best selected stocks of goods in the city, consisting of ladies' dress goods of all kinds, notions and trimmings, ladies' and children's boots and shoes. The first floor is entirely devoted to the retail department, with a cloak room in the rear, while the second floor is set apart for wholesale customers. The salesrooms are commodious and convenient, and their goods and low prices should draw a large patronage.

The Merchants'.—This ever popular saloon, on the corner of Main and Madison streets, whose destinies is presided over by that prince of good fellows, John Davis, is fast and deservedly becoming the resort of our merchants and business men, who desire something good. The cricket club hold their meetings in his rooms, and both the Sons of St. George and St. Andrew do congregate at John's. One visit will be sure to beget another. Go and try the excellent lunch, set daily from 10 to 12. Harry Wilson does the carving.

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS' FUND

Interesting Statement.

This report was unavoidably crowded out yesterday: The following report of the funds collected for the relief of the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers will be read with intense interest by many persons, and is creditable to the generous hearts of the donors:

MEMPHIS, May 7, 1867.
Col. John S. Kerr, Ch'n Lecture Committee:

Sir: The following report for the quarter ending April 20th, is respectfully submitted. We have had nine lectures delivered at the Tabernacle for the benefit of the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers. The total proceeds of the lectures has been $1110 25. Of this amount the sum of $930 75 has been handed Mrs. Gallaway for disbursement by a committee of ladies under her supervision, appointed for the purpose. From Mrs. Gallaway's report, which has been examined and approved, it appears that the fund placed in her hands has been expended as follows:

| | |
|---|---|
| By Mrs. Law | $189 40 |
| By Mrs. Bryant | 172 40 |
| By Mrs. Porter | 92 00 |

| By Mrs. Turley | 15 00 |
| By Mrs. Ford | 86 50 |
| By Mrs. Gallaway | 89 95 |
| | $930 75 |

The expense attending the lectures was $151 50—the sum of $16 per night to Prof. Sabatzky for six nights, and $6 for lights and fuel at each lecture; also $27 50 for cards and printing.

SUMMARY.

|---|---|---|
| Total receipts | | $1,110 25 |
| Expended by ladies | $930 75 | |
| Expenses | 151 50 | |
| On hand | 28 00 | |
| | | $1,110 25 |

The report is accompanied with vouchers and receipts for all moneys received and disbursed. Approved:
MOSES WHITE, Sec'y.
JOHN S. KERR, Ch'n Lect. Com.

The committee return thanks to the "Philharmonics" (who have so generally volunteered their services), for the rare musical entertainments, and to Mr. James Sullivan, for the excellent recitations with which they have favored those who so far sympathized with the object of the association, as to attend the lectures at the Tabernacle. The committee feel that the noble and self-sacrificing exertions of the ladies who have sought out and ministered to the wants of the suffering women and children who have been rendered dependent by the calamities of war, cannot be too highly applauded and commended; and deeply regret that unfavorable circumstances have prevented them from placing at their disposal a fund commensurate with the demands made upon them by the unfortunate class to whose relief they are devoting their time and energies.
MOSES WHITE, Secretary.

MATRIMONIAL.—Eighteen licenses, permitting the applicants to be joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, were issued by John Loague, Esq., for the week ending yesterday, and the following names returned, showing that so many couples have been made happy (we hope) for life: G. W. Isbell and Miss Kate L. Gilliland, March 20th; Henry M. Crowell and Alice G. Stephenson, April 15th; B. F. Thing and Mrs. M. L. Spillars, April 16th; Valentine Wilman and Doly Berdu, May 5th; Wm. The Aurora Oil.—The introduction of this oil is destined to work a great revolution in the lighting world. It possesses many advantages over all other means of light, from the fact that it is much cheaper than gas or coal oil, is free from any offensive smell, and best of all, non-explosive. We have examined it thoroughly, and without hesitation pronounce it superior to anything extant, for the purposes for which it is recommended. It is also superior to turpentine for paints, oils and varnishes. The proprietors, Messrs. H. C. Dewitt & Co., have an office at 24 Madison street, but they dispose of state and county rights to manufacture only. Their patent has seventeen years to run. Territory is being sold rapidly, and parties desiring to make money will find this a good investment. Don't forget, 24 Madison street, up stairs. ap21 tf

PHYSICIANS.

BE NOT DECEIVED.—READER, if you have had the sad misfortune to contract the accursed disease, known as venereal, in any form, you can be cured (I care not in what stage it may present itself, whether primary, secondary or tertiary), without taking one solitary grain of medicine. After ten years of close investigation and practical experience, I am convinced that internal treatment, for the purpose of effecting a permanent cure of syphilitic diseases is useless, and, that in a large proportion of cases, it absolutely does more harm than good. While under my method of external medication, which is pleasant and agreeable to the patient, I defy competition with any other method known to the medical profession, for speedy and permanent cure—which I guarantee in all cases. In making this important fact known to the public, I wish to state that I am a regular practitioner of medicine; that I am a graduate of the Medical Department of the University of Louisville, Ky., and that my method of treating these diseases has cost years of deep study and close observation.

All diseases of the Ear and Eye treated upon the most improved methods.

OFFICE—No. 33 Monroe street, between Main and Second. Respectfully, my8-1m G. W. McLOED, M. D.

DR. C. SPIEGEL, graduate of the best medical schools of Europe and the United States, and member of the principal medical societies in those countries, has practiced medicine in Memphis for the last thirteen years, and continues to offer his professional services to the public, in the treatment of all forms of disease upon the most improved European methods. My vast collections of rare medicines and surgical instruments, with a life-long experience in their administration and use, warrants me in claiming a superiority over the more ordinary method of treating diseases, such as CANCER and TUMORS of every description, which I cure by Constitutional treatment exclusively, no operation performed by the knife. Diseases of the Eye, Ear and Skin, Consumption and Bronchitis, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Scrofula, Syphilis, Stricture, Gleet, Gravel, Piles, Dropsy, Fistula in ano; in short, all Chronic Diseases, giving especial attention to FEMALE DISEASES of every description. I am always ready at all times to consult with first-class Physicians, either by letter or in person, upon all diseases pertaining to medicine and surgery. Medicine sent by express to all parts of the world, when desired.

OFFICE—No. 33, south side Monroe, between Main and Second streets Memphis.

Concentration Gives Strength.

DR. F. B. WALTON TENDERS HIS SERvices to the public in the treatment of the diseases of females. So obscure are many of these, so capricious in their manifestations, so perfectly do they simulate other diseases, that their true character is often overlooked or mistaken; prominent among these are, Neuralgia Dyspepsia, that condition of the system commonly called Nervous or Rheumatic, and General Debility, this last is too often but a symptom of some insidious disease which is sapping the foundations of life. To become expert in the detection of these and skillful in their treatment, requires more labor and research than the general practitioner can bestow. These facts induced him to devote himself to this branch of the profession exclusively. To those interested he would state that he has had the advantage of the best medical schools and extensive hospitals of America; also a practice of more than twenty years in this his native State and in the tropics, where such diseases most abound. He is permitted also to refer to Drs. Pitman and Hopson, gentlemen who stand deservedly high in the profession. Office, No. 354 Main street. Residence, No. 291 Linden street, Memphis, Tenn. my5 1m.

Trust Sale.

IN pursuance of the provisons of a Trust Deed to me executed by A. Street on 17th day of November, 1859, and which is duly registered in the Register's office of Shelby county, in Book No. 40, Part 1, pages 475, 476 and 477; and also in pursuance of a Consent Decree made by the Hon. William M. Smith, Judge of the Chancery Court of Memphis, on 22d day of April, 1867, in the causes pending in said Court, wherein Charles J. Seay and others are complainants, and A. Street and others are defendants, I will, at the Southwest corner of the intersection of Poplar and Second streets, in Memphis, on the 25th day of May, 1867, at 12 o'clock, m., proceed to sell at public auction to the highest bidder, upon the terms hereinafter mentioned, the following described Lots of Land, together with the improvements thereon, situated in Memphis, Shelby county, Tennessee, viz: Being Lots Nos. 269 and 270, as known on the map of Memphis, and bounded as follows: Beginning at the Southwest corner of the intersection of Poplar and Second streets, running thence West with the South line of Poplar street 124¼ feet; thence South parallel with Second street 74¼ feet to a stake; thence West 24¼ feet to an alley; thence with said alley 74¼ feet to the intersection of the alley; thence East with said alley to Second street; thence with Second street 148½ feet to the beginning. Excepting and excluding, however, from said Lots, that part conveyed and relinquished on the 6th day of March, 1860, by the undersigned and Brinkley & Dougherty, to A. Street, bounded and described as follows, viz: Beginning at the Southeast corner of Lot No. 269, at the intersection of the North side of the first alley South of Poplar street with the West side of Second street; thence Northwardly with West side of Second street 28 feet, more or less, to a point at which said West side of Second street is intersected by a line running through the center of the middle parallel wall from East to West, of three story brick building, embracing two tenements now in said lot No. 269; thence from said point of intersection Westwardly 148½ feet to the East side of the first alley, West of Second street; thence with the East side of said last mentioned alley Southwardly, 28 feet more or less, to the point of intersection of the East side of said last mentioned alley, with the North side of the first alley South of Poplar street—said point of intersection being the Southwest corner of lot No. 269; thence eastwardly with the East side of the said last mentioned alley, 148½ feet, to the beginning.

Said property will be sold on the following terms, viz: One-fourth of the purchase money cash, and the balance on a credit of four and eight months, for which the purchasers will be required to give notes with approved personal security, and a lien likewise to be retained on the property to secure these deferred payments. The equity of redemption is waived, and the title is believed to be perfect, but I shall only convey as trustee.

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

For the Memphis Appeal.]

A TRIBUTE TO LITTLE CORA JOHNSON, OF MEMPHIS, TENN.

Suggested by her Recital of the Poem "Unknown," at the Decoration of the Graves of the Confederate Dead, on the 26th of April, 1867.

BY CARRIE BELL SINCLAIR.

'Twas mine the sad requiem-song to entwine
At the grave of the soldier "Unknown"—it was thine
To murmur that song while sadness and gloom
Encircled the wreaths on each soldier-boy's tomb!
Song, flowers and tears!—twine them all for the brave,
And leave them to rest on each dear hallowed grave!

Ah! thousands that day met those dear graves around,
And love twined its tribute o'er each humble mound;
And while the fair flowers were strewing each grave,
Her little heart murmured a song for the brave;
As she stood by the spot with no name on the stone,
And wept for the soldier who slept there "Unknown."

Oh! an angel she seemed 'mid the sorrow and gloom
That paled the fair flowers entwined on each tomb!
And the sweet childish face grew more radiant and fair
As her voice in the silence re-echoed still there,
Till the Harps up above had caught the sweet tone,
And gave back the song of the soldier "Unknown."

No holier offering our hands can place there
Than the tribute of Flowers and Song, and the tear
That falls for the boys in their old suits of grey,
Who sleep 'neath the laurels we twine them to-day!
And they sleep just as sweet with no name on the stone,
For the Father who gave, took back the "Unknown!"

Sweet child! though the years of thy life are so few,
Yet thy soul warmly beats in the cause of the true;
And though I have never gazed in thy young face,
Nor clasped thy fair form in a loving embrace,
I pray to the Father who shields us alone,
In Heaven together we'll meet the "Unknown."

That the harp that was tuned to sad numbers here,
May waken to music far sweeter up there!
And sound its sweet notes for the brave band in grey
Who are swelling the chorus with Angels to-day;—
And for those who repose with no name on the stone,
There's a welcome in Heaven for every "Unknown!"

AUGUSTA, GA., April, 1867.

IN MEMORIAM.

ON THE DEATH OF MISS GEORGIANA BLAND, WHO DIED AT MEMPHIS, MAY 7, 1867.

Another light has left this sphere
To gleam beyond the skies,
And shine more bright and beam the peer
Of saints in Paradise.
A soul too pure and good for earth,
Has fled to realms above;
It came to us all full of worth,
To tell the Father's love.

She left us full of faith and youth,
With mildness of the dove—
A soul of peace that knew but truth,
And charity, and love.
We miss her as we miss the star
That forms Ambition's scope,
And with her light there fled afar
The brightest beam of hope.

Oh! sad it is so young to die:
To find life's bright dreams pale,
Our youthful hopes crushed with a sigh,
And heart-dreams slowly fail.
But now with her each hope is bright
Among the seraphim,
For she was pure as morning's light,
And holy as a hymn.

J. AUGUSTINE SIGNAIGO.

MEMPHIS, May 7, 1867.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND BUSINESS.

Yesterday was a warm day, with some appearance of rain towards evening. Business was tolerably good on the landing. The decline in the last twenty-four hours has been fully four inches, and by our next issue we hope to announce a much more rapid fall. The upper rivers are all receding.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Hays of the Louisville Democrat, says: A fashionably dressed young lady now-a-days, looks like a churn, with a bunch of dry moss on top of the handle, set out in a field to keep buzzards away.

On Friday last, Cassias Lobster, clerk of the steamer St. Anthony Falls, was drowned off that steamer while a few miles above Mendota, on her way to Mankato, on the upper Mississippi.

The Zebra blew out a cylinder-head and lost her pitman overboard on her last trip up the Kanawha.

The steamboat Mariner, owned at Cincinnati, was sunk on the 9th inst., near Decatur. She was valed at $10,000, and is a total loss.

The Clifton backed out for Cincinnati with the best cotton trip which has left this port for weeks. She had on board 1250 bales.

The Underwriter has been towed over to Hopefield.

The Stonewall passed down yesterday. She had 15,800 sacks of corn on board.

The towboat Hyatt arrived with two barges loaded with stone for the landing.

The first blocks for the Nicholson pavement were sawed yesterday on the levee.

The St. Patrick was brought to this side of the river yesterday.

The fine packet Argonaut will be in port to-day. She has 150 tons freight for reshipment to Vicksburg, and a large lot for the Arkansas river. Passengers bound for Louisville should not forget that the Argonaut leaves promptly at 5 p.m. to-morrow. Her officers are careful and competent.

The great steamer Gen. Quitman was due last night from New Orleans, and has no doubt proceeded on her way to Cairo. Capt. White will be here however in time to leave as usual, on Wednesday evening, for New Orleans. Howard & Mossop are her clerks, and Frank Smith is the steward. No one knows better how to "keep a hotel." Freight will be received at the Star Wharfboat at all hours for the Quitman.

The beautiful Belle Memphis, which should have worn the colors, will be in port to-night, and leave as usual on Monday, at 5 p.m. for Cairo and St. Louis. Capt. Mussulman is master, and Mr. Cutler is clerk. Don't forget the Belle Memphis, if you wish to visit St. Louis and see the Black Crook.

The reliable Commercial, with Capt. Davis in command, and Messrs. Moreton, Smithers & Harry in the office, goes out as usual for White river on Tuesday.

We see it stated that the Robt. E. Lee made the run from Memphis to Cairo in sixteen hours, or seventeen hours, or seventeen hours and twenty minutes, the shortest on record. We believe she can do it on a trial, but she has not yet done it, if we are correctly informed. She left Memphis at seven o'clock in the afternoon, and reached Cairo the next afternoon between two and three o'clock.

The quickest time ever made from Memphis to Cairo was by the Eclipse and Shotwell, in eighteen hours. This is indisputable and can't successfully be controverted. To be sure the City of Alton, the Mollie Able and two or three other boats have made quick trips on paper, but they always deducted an hour or two for lost time, landing, or running slow. They never made the run from Memphis to Cairo in eighteen hours.

We clip the above from the Louisville Courier, and for the edification of its river man, we will give him a few facts, besides correcting his "time" about the departure of the Lee from this port, and her arrival at Cairo. The Lee left this city at 3 20 p.m. She made five landings, besides which she ran into the woods while going up a chute, which damaged her slightly and caused a detention of more than 30 minutes, and arrived at 8 40 the next morning, making the run, counting all delays, in seventeen hours and twenty minutes. It was done too in a terrible storm, rain falling in torrents during the night. The artillery of Heaven was turned loose, and roared as it only can roar on our river, but it only lent additional speed to the gallant steamer. To cap it all she was not trying herself, but when she does, Mr. Courier, even the forked lightning will be slow in comparison.

The fast sailing and ever reliable Mollie Hambleton, Capt. Bowman, leaves for St. Frances river, Tuesday, the 14th inst., at 5 p.m. Larry Harmstad & Co., agents.

The regular Vicksburg packet H. M. Shreve, Carter master, will leave port to-morrow, 14th inst., at 5 p.m. Larry Harmstad & Co., agents.

The ever popular Celeste, Capt. Reese Pritchard, is up for Arkansas river, to-day, 12th inst., at p.m. W. Jay Johnson and J. T. Bourne & Co., agents.

The popular steamer M. S. Mepham, for New Orleans and all way points, leaves this day, 12th inst., at 12 m.

The ever popular and well known steamer Anna, Shinkle master, leaves port Tuesday, 14th inst., for Cincinnati and all way places. Levy & Miller, agents.

The result of the investigations now being made into the affairs of the Louisville and Portland steamboat canal company will be given to the public in a few days. The people were long since given to understand that the interests of the government in the work had been cancelled, and that the canal and all its machinery, vessels, &c., had passed into the hands of private corporators and stock holders, who were to conduct the work at their own expense and for their own profit. The investigation thus far develops the fact that the corporators have in due course received the revenues, and it turns out that notwithstanding it was supposed the canal had passed from the control and interest of the government, yet there have been appropriations for the improvement and repair of the canal to the amount of about half a million of dollars.

The two United States cavalrymen who murdered Kennedy in Vicksburg a few days ago were arrested by the mate of the Quitman at Natchez.

A chambermaid at St. Louis has entered suit against George H. Wiley, formerly a clerk on the river, for the sum of $4,900 due her for care and attention rendered to her own children, of which she alleges said Wiley is the father. Wiley is now a commission merchant in St. Louis.

The St. Louis Democrat says:

There were indications of a change in the weather last evening to rain. The river here continues falling steadily. The stage of water above is steadily decreasing. Business appears to be brightening on the Missouri. The Miami packet arrived here with a fine cargo of live stock, 177 bales hemp, grain, tobacco, bacon, lard, wine, etc.

The Louisville Democrat says:

The river was falling yesterday, though slowly, with nine feet four inches water in the canal in the evening by the mark. During the previous twenty-four hours it had fallen four inches at the head of the falls and twelve inches at Portland. The weather was cool for the season, though far more pleasant than the day before.

On the falls last evening there were six feet four inches steamboat water in the pass, and falling slowly.

FINANCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, May 11, 1867.

The improvement in our cotton market created considerable activity to-day in our local finances.

Gold was offered more freely than usual. Brokers bought at 34 to 34½c towards the close, and sold at 36c.

In silver we could learn of no large sales. Buying at 25 to 26c; selling at 27 28c.

Exchange is easier. Buying at par to ¼ off, and selling at ¼ to ½ premium. Large lots could be bought at a better rate.

New Orleans sight is not plentiful. Buying at ¼ off, and selling at par to ¼ premium.

New city scrip is in good demand at 85c buying; selling at 87 to 88c.

Old scrip is about all taken up. Brokers offer 90c for it.

Police scrip is in moderate demand at 75c buying; selling at 58c.

Bonds are dull and nominal. The only transaction reported is a small sale of Memphis city coupons at 55c. There is nothing doing in others. Memphis and Ohio railroad, 15 to 20c. Memphis and Little Rock first mortgage bonds, no sale; Memphis and Charleston railroad bonds, 65 to 70c; Tennessee bonds, with coupons, 65 to 70c; Tennessee bonds, new, 65 to 70c; Mobile and Ohio railroad bonds, no sale; Memphis city coupons, 55 to 57c; Memphis city railroad stock, 25 to 35c.

Uncurrent money is dull:

The bank of England return presents some changes, but they have not been of a striking character. As far as they go they must be, on the whole, viewed as encouraging. The private securities manifest a decrease of £436,538; the total standing at £18,523,872. The bullion exhibits an increase of £88,195, while in the return of the bank of France we note an increase of £850,000 in the amount of bills discounted, and the current account have augmented £333,320. The decrease in the stock of bullion is about £260,008. This return shows that business has improved—no doubt stimulated by the exposition, and the excitement through the apprehension of war.

The total receipts from internal revenue, since the beginning of the present fiscal year, have been $228,449,604 87. The average receipts per day during April were $480,467 68.

The imports of foreign commodities for the nine months ending March 31st, were $306,683,833; for three months ending at that date they amounted to $94,754,462, and during the month ending March 31st they amounted to $31,082,119, of which $27,954,743 was dutiable, and $3,127,376 free of duty. Of the whole amount imported in March 18,606,484 was entered for consumption, and $12,745,635 entered into warehouses. The principal articles were: Coffee, $933,682; cotton manufactures, $2,922,394; flax and manufactures of, $1,746,803; glass and manufactures of, $539,189; hides and skins, $1,237,394; iron and steel and manufactures of, $2,112,526; silk and manufactures of, $1,528,735; sugar and molasses, $3,291,221; tea, $918,764; tobacco and manufactures of, $250,219; liquors, $402,667; wool and manufactures of, $3,694,765.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL,
MEMPHIS, May 11, 1867, 8 p.m.

GENERAL BUSINESS.

The general markets were dull to-day, with little change to note. Provisions are somewhat weaker and tending downwards. Feed remains firm, with but light stocks on hand. Prime corn is scarce, while there is a considerable quantity of damaged on hand. We hear many complaints from planters about the quality of the corn which is being shipped south this year, and many of them have lost their stock in consequence. It is a noticeable fact, that nearly all the bad corn has so far come out of the Ohio river.

COTTON—The European news has had its effect on the cotton market, and prices have jumped up fully 2c per pound. The adjustment of all difficulties between France and Prussia by the congress now in session, it is thought, will be the result of the conference, and cotton, which is sure to fall when a warlike attitude is assumed, is also sure to become buoyant with the prospect of peace. Our market was active, and some very good-sized sales were made on a basis of 24½ to 25c for middling. Holders are very firm, and generally retain the old margin of 1 cent between their views and those of buyers. The receipts to-day were 89 bales; shipments 1050 bales. Receipts for the week, 1590 bales; shipments, 2300 bales; stock on hand, 17,626 bales. The following, which we take from the Merchants' Exchange Prices Current of to-day, will explain the increase we report in stock on hand:

"Actual count this week shows an excess of 3845 bales over our statement previous. Of this about 1000 bales is the product of 'sacks of cotton,' an account of which was regularly kept in our table of imports into Memphis, that item in which we now strike. The balance is mostly the excess by wagon over our estimate, which was, for the season, 17,884, now made 20,729." We quote the market firm and active:

Until reconstruction is a settled matter in the south emigration will direct itself to the other states in the union, even although their advantages are not so promising. By the returns of the emigrant commissioners it appears that of more than twenty-five immigrants landed at New York last month, only five go to Arkansas, five to Alabama, one to Florido, nine to Georgia, thirty-eight to Louisiana, one to Mississippi, two to North Carolina, ten to South Carolina one hundred and sixty-three to Texas, and fifty-five to Virginia. All these states get but 277, while Illinois alone takes 2,626, New England more than 2000, and even inhospitable Canada nearly 300.

The department of state has received information from the United States consul at Lumbuyeque, Peru, that an important discovery has been made in Peru, recently, of the silk plant. Preparations are being made to cultivate it upon an extensive scale. The shrub is three or four feet in hight. The silk is inclosed in a pod, of which each plant gives a great number, and is declared as superior in fineness and quality to the production of the silk worm. It is a wild perennial. The seeds are small and easily separated from the fibre. The stems of the plant produce a long and very brilliant fibre, superior in strength and beauty to the finest linen thread. Small quantities have been worn in the rude manner of the Indians, and the texture and brilliancy are said to be unsurpassed.

From returns published in Liverpool in the last week of April, it appears that the quantity of cotton afloat from the East India and American ports on the way to Liverpool and London is still very large. From Bombay there were at sea forty-eight ships, laden with 217,490 bales of cotton; from Rangoon one ship, with 350 bales; from Tuticorin one ship, with 3,262 bales; from Calcutta fourteen ships, with 42,856 bales; from New Orleans eighteen ships, with 50,184 bales; there are also two other ships afloat, but the quantity of cotton on board is not given. From New York there are five ships, but only four cargoes are returned, namely, 5,713 bales; from Galveston thirteen ships afloat, but only six cargoes reported, viz: 6083 bales; from Mobile eight ships afloat, with 25,428 bales; from Charleston three ships, but only one cargo, 3091 bales reported; and from Savannah three ships, but their cargoes not reported. These ships and their cargoes are all bound for the Mersey. The following are on the way to the Thames: From Madras there are 21,328 bales afloat; from Calcutta, 19,985 bales; from Cochin, China, and Tuticorin, 28,547 bales; and from Bombay and Kurrachee, 6200 bales—making a total of about 500,000 bales of cotton at sea for Liverpool and London.
